

NATE SALETAN, Co-Founder, Influent AI

Nate Saletan is a technology founder, product strategist, and data leader, and one of the foremost emerging voices on the use of artificial intelligence in civic engagement and communication. As co-founder of Influent, he has helped pioneer a new model for AI-enabled advocacy -- one that uses cutting-edge technology to help organizations communicate more personally, mobilize supporters more effectively, and scale authentic participation. His background sits at the intersection of AI, product development, data infrastructure, peer-to-peer communication, behavioral incentives, and large-scale team leadership. He has built and led companies through multiple funding rounds, profitability, and rapid growth, managing global teams spanning creative, engineering, product, operations, and business strategy.
